What Students and Parents Should Know

FERPA General Guidance for Parents

FERPA is a Federal law that applies to educational agencies and institutions that receive funding under a program administered by the U.S. Department of Education. Parochial and private schools at the elementary school levels do not generally receive such funding and, therefore, are not subject to FERPA. The statute is found at 20 U.S.C. & 1232g and the Department's regulations are found at 34 CFR Part 99.

Under FERPA, schools must generally afford parents – access to their children's education records - an opportunity to seek to have the records amended - some control over the disclosure of information from the records.

Parents may access, seek to amend, or consent to disclosures of their children's education records, unless there is a court order or other legal document specifically stating otherwise. When a student turns 18 years of age or attends a postsecondary institution, the student and not the parent, may access, seek to amend, and consent to disclosures of his or her education records.

For additional FERPA information, visit the website at www.ed.gov.

Parents please note: Our contract is with the student.
