Board of Governors Update

- NCCU was one of four campuses that discussed the impact of need-based financial aid for our students at the April BOG meeting. While the dialogue continues, NCCU clearly serves academically gifted students many of whom are from low wealth families. We will continue to advocate for need-based financial aid and will ask the NCCU Board of Trustees to assist us in sharing the story of the impact that our institution has on the lives of more than 8,200 students and 30,000 alumni who are part of our Eagle family.

Budget

- In FY-2011-2012 NCCU began implementing proactive strategies to enhance the institution’s quality, efficiency and effectiveness – all with a goal of protecting the University’s academic core.
- NCCU began implementation of the Process Improvement and Efficiency Initiative (PIE) in FY 2011-2012 that has generated over $1.5 million in cost savings for the University.
- Over the past decade, the university has sustained over $60 million in permanent and one-time budget reductions. NCCU’s biennial budget reduction totaled $3.7 million in FY 2013-2014. While the NC General Assembly has not completed its work, we anticipate reductions at some level for the next fiscal year.
- To manage the FY 2013-2014 budget reductions, the University developed eight guiding principles to ensure reductions aligned with NCCU’s 2020 Strategic Plan, University of North Carolina Board of Governors Strategic Directions and the NC General Assembly legislative directives. They are as follows:
Protect our core mission and its quality by making cuts strategically (no across the board cuts);
Invest and protect revenue-generating and strategic-reinvestment initiatives across our community;
Eliminate duplicity in University operations;
Align University infrastructure to strategic goals;
Invest in technology that fuels organizational efficiencies;
Assess the roles of middle-management personnel for relevancy, effectiveness, efficiency and best practices;
Freeze vacant positions and, where appropriate, realign with strategic directions;
Limit travel to focus on faculty professional development and revenue-generating areas.

- To ensure the University continues to thrive long-term, NCCU must proactively realign and reorganize its operations, while continuing to be innovative and creative in our instruction, services and delivery.
- We are realigning NCCU's budget by $5.6 million from state and non-state sources to plan for strategic investments in academics and student services, impending budget reductions and operational efficiencies.
- We will eliminate 55 positions, of which 38 are vacant and 17 are currently filled. NCCU will manage the reductions in force and realignments to ensure compassionate treatment of all affected employees.
- Employees in positions that will be impacted will receive job search support services, career training, opportunities for re-deployment within NCCU, free workshops and other services offered through NCCU Human Resources Department. Those impacted will be notified by the first week in May.
- As an Institution of higher learning, NCCU has to strategically realign and reorganize its operations in order to thrive. A series of open forums will be scheduled to allow members of the University community to ask questions about the budget reduction and how NCCU will remain strategically focused on our No. 1 priority, student success, without sacrificing the quality of our instruction or services.
- NCCU along with all University of North Carolina campuses is faced with the challenge of balancing declining state resources while delivering high quality educational and research opportunities.

This proactive measure will allow NCU to remain healthy and competitive making a positive impact to our State and national economic infrastructure.

Commencement

- Plans are underway for the graduation ceremonies of our students who will receive baccalaureate, graduate and professional degrees on Friday, May 9th and Saturday, May 10th as we will celebrate NCCU's newest Eagle alumni.
