2016 Summer Youth Business and Entrepreneurship Academy

Sunday, June 19, 2016 thru Friday, July 1, 2016

Applications are being accepted for the 2016 North Carolina Central University Summer Youth Business and Entrepreneurship Academy presented by the Executive Leadership Council, hosted by the NCCU School of Business. The Academy is open to 60, high achieving rising 10th, 11th, and 12th grade high school students, with a B average or higher. Selected students will receive business training and exposure to higher education on the campus of NCCU, along with a full scholarship to cover the cost of attendance plus materials.

The two-week Academy includes:

- Residential Facilities and Meals Students will participate in a fully immersed collegiate experience on the campus of North Carolina Central University including 3 meals a day.
- Lectures taught by host NCCU professors and local business leaders. Topics include introductory business courses in marketing, finance (financial literacy), entrepreneurship, leadership and ethics.
- Corporate Visits and an Out-of-town Trip to help students gain exposure to the application of business principles in the real world as they interact with local and national corporate executives during on-site visits.
- Business plan development and team competition with participants to derive a business plan for a new idea. A panel of judges from the business community will evaluate the plan and a prize will be awarded to the winning team.

The Executive Leadership Council (ELC) is an independent, nonprofit 501(c)(6) corporation founded in 1986, composed of current and former black CEOs, board directors and senior executives at Fortune 500 companies. For more than 25 years, the ELC has worked to build an inclusive business leadership pipeline. They empower black corporate leaders to make significant contributions in the global marketplace and their communities. The ELC's related charitable organization, the Executive Leadership Foundation (ELF), focuses on improving local communities and helping disadvantaged groups within the broader society.

North Carolina Central University, founded in 1910, was the first publicly supported liberal arts college for African-Americans. Today, the university has a diverse population of more than 8,300 students enrolled in first-class academic programs. NCCU's fully accredited School of Business trains students to become specialists in major fields of business administration and management.
