2015 BLACK HISTORY MONTH

CARTER G. WOODSON  JOHN HOPE FRANKLIN  MARY MCLEOD BETHUNE

A CENTURY OF BLACK LIFE, HISTORY AND CULTURE

Association for the Study of African-American Life and History (ASALH)

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 2
Shepard Library
Archives: “Pop Up Historical Display” on Dr. John Hope Franklin, goes on exhibit at the James E. Shepard Memorial Library Archives, Records and History Center.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 3–TUESDAY, MARCH 31
11:35 a.m. • Museum of Durham History
Display: The Museum of Durham History presents “Coach Mac: Integrator and Innovator,” an exhibition honoring the legacy of John B. McLendon, father of fast break basketball. Coach McLendon revolutionized the game and led social change by organizing the “Secret Game” between NCCU and Duke University. Hours: Tuesday–Saturday 10 a.m.–5 p.m. Admission: FREE

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 5
11:35 a.m. • Nursing Building
Lecture: Dr. Freddie L. Parker, Julius L. Chambers Endowed Professor of History at NCCU, presents a lecture on Dr. John Hope Franklin entitled “The NCCU Days.”

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 10
11:35 a.m. • A.E. Student Union, Room 146
Discussion/Lecture: Dr. Walter M. Brown, former Dean of the NCCU School of Education, discusses his friendship with Dr. John Hope Franklin.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 18
1 p.m. • A.E. Student Union, Room 144
Discussion/Lecture: Graduate students from the NCCU Department of History present their research on Dr. John Hope Franklin.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 19
6 p.m. • Eagle Landing Multipurpose Room
Discussion: Omega Psi Phi, Inc. presents “Dr. Carter G. Woodson and Black History Month: Its Impact on the Intellectual Development of the Black Community.”

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 23
4 p.m. • Edwards Music Building, Room 202
Discussion: Dr. Candace Bailey, music professor, and students of the NCCU Department of Music discuss “Musicians of Color in New Orleans, ca. 1840-1920.”

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 27
Noon • Hubbard-Totten Auditorium
Lecture: Mr. Horace Johnson, former mayor of Hillsborough, NC, discusses “My Years as Mayor in a Southern Town.”

Sponsored by the Department of History and College of Arts and Sciences.
For more information call 919-530-6321.