Three Minute Thesis Competition Coming to North Carolina Central University

Can your student explain his/her thesis or dissertation in 180 seconds in a language appropriate for non-specialist audience?

Three Minute Thesis (3MT) is a competition for Master thesis and Doctor Philosophy (PhD) students. The first 3MT was held at the University of Queensland, Australia in 2008, and since its creation, it has been adopted by many universities globally.

Why should your student participate?

1. To develop academic, communication, presentation and research skills
2. To develop the ability to explain their research in a language appropriate to a non-specialist audience
3. To build relationships
4. To network

What are the winners’ incentives?

First Prize: $2,000 and an all-expense paid trip to the regional finals
Runner Up: $1,500
People’s Choice: $1,000

Would you like to learn more about 3MT and view competitors’ videos? Click on the link below.

More information will follow about information sessions, training, preliminary rounds and the final competition.